

I would like to express my concern for these changes to Christian Radio. They struggle to stay on the air to bring positive messages and now you want to make it harder for them to bring a positive voice to airwaves. With all the troubles in the world and the country, shouldn't we be backing up positive and encouraging stations and not making it harder for them to stay on the air when you allow harsher radio stations to play what they call "music." Give them a fighting chance. Work with them to get their word across, don't make it harder.

Thanks you

Lori Lackey